HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 8TH, 1908.

It is just ten years ago that Hawaii was annexed to the United States. For some years previously the American residents there had been industriously advocating this in the United States, but the proposal was viewed with distinct disfavour by Democrats and Republicans alike and had it not been for the Spanish-American war, the Sandwich Islands would either have remained independent territory, or else have become a dependency of Japan. Just before the annexation by America, the constant stream of immigrants into the islands from Japan was creating some alarm among the Americans who were administering the islands under the native Queen, but when war was declared with Spain, the United States Government, fearing that Spain might convert the islands into a base of operations, dispatched a squadron to Hawaii to annex them. In the States politicians regarded the step merely as an act of temporary military expediency, but the end of the war was followed by the definite incorporation of the islands with the United States.

The disgust of a large section of the American public who prophesied that annexation would prove to be a Pandora box of ills. We have the authority of a Honolulu contemporary for the assertion that annexation has instead proved to be "a chest of treasure," a boon and a blessing to the islands. Annexation not only settled the Japanese political problem of the islands, but it has led to such agricultural and industrial developments and consequent expansion of commerce as to enable the local press to speak of "the vastness of Hawaiian prosperity."

In the future more is likely to be heard of Hawaii from the fact that America is about to convert it into a great fortress and naval depot. It is no newly disclosed secret which Reuters announces to us that the United States War Department have prepared plans to make the island of Oahu (Sandwich Islands) the Gibraltar of the Pacific, and that including extensive fortifications at Honolulu, twelve 14-inch guns will be mounted there, and at Pearl Harbour accommodation will be provided for a garrison of fifteen thousand men, and a dock for the largest battleships. Some of the details may be new, but the main features of the scheme were settled long ago. Congress, in fact, has already voted a million dollars for the fortification of Pearl Harbour. There are expectations that on the completion of the world tour of America's Atlantic fleet, at least six of the battleships will be permanently stationed at Hawaii. Apropos of this, we note in one of the Manila papers which arrived by yesterday's mail that great prominence is given to a telegram reporting the Japanese Ambassador, the United States Secretary for War and the President to have been in "vital conference" concerning matters which were not disclosed to the newspaper men; but the New York Journal states that among other matters of world-wide importance discussed was a protest presented by Mr. TAKIHIRA on behalf of his Government against the maintenance of two fleets in the Pacific by the United States. This presumably means one fleet at Hawaii and one at the Philippines. That the Japanese Government has made any formal protest is incredible. Japan has no more title to make such a protest than America has to formally protest against Japan's naval shipbuilding programme. The fortification of Pearl Harbour and the construction of a big dockyard there certainly point conclusively to an intention to maintain a fleet at Hawaii, and if the United States Government deems the maintenance of two fleets in the Pacific desirable no other power can object. America is not likely to use her fleet for any aggressive purpose, and perhaps it was as much for the purpose of reassuring Japan in this regard as in any other connexion that President ROOSEVELT wrote to his Secretary of War last week the letter in which he declared to declare that the United States holds Japan in peculiar regard and friendship.

The English Mail of the 8th August was delivered in London on the 5th inst.

Mr. A. C. Hagen, who resides at Kingsclere, has informed the police that a gold chain value $50 and a half sovereign and horse-shoe appendage are missing from his room.

Mr. W. R. M'D. Parr, the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Commissioner at Kowloon, who is going home on furlough, was presented by the staff yesterday with a loving cup in token of their esteem.

A Chinese shopkeeper, residing at 40 Peel Street, reports that on Saturday evening a leather bag containing jewellery to the value of $3,270 was stolen from his house. An amah was suspected and she is under arrest.

To-day His Honour the Chief Justice will sit in Chambers to dispose of accumulated Chamber business, and to-morrow the case will open in which Lau Man Cho is suing the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank for the return of certain title deeds left with the Bank for safe custody.

Yesterday an American bluejacket was at the Magistracy fined $3 and ordered to pay $2 compensation for assaulting a ricksha coolie. Mr. Wood heard another summons preferred against a British bluejacket for assaulting a ricksha coolie but this was not proved and the defendant was discharged.

From Toning papers we learn that the French military authorities are vigorously prosecuting the operations against the Chinese revolutionaries on the frontier. Two serious engagements were fought at the end of August. At Hoang-su-Pai a French force of about 300 under Captain Bonnet was attacked by a large body of "Reformists" and the fight lasted three days when Commandant Leconteux arrived and attacked the Chinese from the rear, killing 40 of them. The French losses were two killed and two wounded.

Dr. Morrison telegraphing to the Times from Peking on the 6th ult. said: "For some time past I have been visiting various parts in North China, including Weanwei, concerning which I must report, as I did last year in a despatch dated August 4, that the uncertainty of the future prevents the development of the territory in spite of its natural advantages, and forbids the introduction of foreign capital. Nothing, however, can impair the superiority of the harbour as a sanatorium for our fleet and as a practice ground which will always enable the China Squadron to maintain its high standard of efficiency."

We are requested to state that, owing to the heavy rain yesterday morning, the Tennis Party arranged for this afternoon at Mountain Lodge has had to be cancelled.

The native city of Hankow now has electric light. Current was supplied on the 28th ult. for 1,800 lights, and applications for the installation of 2,000 additional lights had been received.

There were only two cases of bubonic plague reported during last week. Both were fatal. There was one Japanese and two Chinese fatal cases of cholera and two European cases of enteric fever, one proving fatal.

The adjourned case in which a native was charged before Mr. J. R. Wood at the Magistracy with assisting an ear pick from a Chinese woman was concluded yesterday. His Worship found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to twelve months imprisonment with hard labour, and to receive 24 strokes of the birch.

A mysterious affair is reported from Shanghai. The report of a pistol was heard in the Palace Hotel and when a policeman hastened to the hotel he found Dr. Billingshirst, dressing a wound on the left hand of W. Sidebottom. Another foreigner was present, but his name has not been learned. As none of the present seemed disposed to give any explanation to Constable Leary, the latter, accompanied by Sidebottom, went to the Central Police Station but here too, the parties interested displayed the greatest reticence, and refused to enter into particulars. Sidebottom was then sent to the General Hospital, but he declined to remain in the institution and left for the Astor House, where he resides. It appears that Sidebottom and the foreigner referred to above had an altercation, during the course of which the foreigner is alleged to have drawn a revolver from his pocket and fired at Sidebottom. The latter, in endeavouring to shield himself, is said to have thrown out his left hand, with the result that the bullet lodged therein. In response to questions by the police, Sidebottom is alleged to have intimated that he was aware of the identity of the person who fired the shot, but would not divulge it and did not desire the police to take any steps in the matter. Detective Sub-Inspector Bek has the matter in hand.

CHOLERA AT THE YANGTSE PORTS.

The latest newspapers from Hankow report the death of two Roman Catholic missionaries from cholera. These bring the number of deaths from the dread disease among the foreign community up to ten. Some 30,000 Chinese are said to have died from cholera in the three native cities of Wuchang, Hankow and HanYang during the past two months.

The medicine shops at Wuchang, says a Hankow contemporary, are pretty busy on account of the cholera epidemic. It is said one of the shops sells to the value of over 1,000,000 cash a day.

At Kinkiang, Mr. Robins, the British Consul, has died of cholera after only six hours' illness. Mr. Robins was well connected at home and formerly held the rank of assistant paymaster on one of H. M.'s biggest ships. He resigned the Customs to join the Consular service.

THE HARBOUR SWIM.

On Monday, 21st instant, long distance swimmers will again have an opportunity of competing in the swimming race across the harbour for two prizes offered by the "China Mail." Since its inception this race has proved most popular, and its popularity should not be depressed when it is known that the conditions of racing will be on similar lines to former years. Intending competitors have already begun to train and last night Messrs. Alves and Barros covered the course in 24 minutes, a very creditable performance.

Another swimming record has been established by Mr. C. J. Cooke, who last night swam from the No. 1 Dock at Kowloon to Blake Pier in fifty minutes, leaving the Dock at 5.10 and landing at Blake Pier at six o'clock. This adds another excellent performance to the list of events which aquatic have been recently compiling.

AMERICA'S RETURNING PROSPERITY.

A New York dispatch says:—From all parts of the country comes news of returning prosperity. The "New York Herald" publishes dispatches from every important center, showing that the wheels of progress are beginning to revolve more rapidly in the iron and steel industry which reflects the general manufacturing conditions. A steady improvement is being witnessed in the agricultural regions, and labour is in demand. If nothing occurs in the next two months to mar the brilliant promise for the corn crop, there should be a full resumption of prosperity in the autumn.

Many New York business men say that trade already has reached a normal basis. Confidence is growing stronger daily, and in several branches trade is better than ever before. For instance, the National Cash Register Company reports more registers being purchased than ever in the previous history of the company. When the depression began the company had $3,000,000 worth of machines in stock ahead of the demand. Now all have been sold and the company's great factory is working at full time with 4,500 employees, yet is unable to fill all its orders.

While New York houses generally report business still below that of the recent boom period they expect this autumn to see trade at as high a notch as it ever was. New England mill-owners express practically the same view. Throughout the west and south there has been a notable recovery, while everybody is certain that, after the election, business will be fully revived. What is needed most at present is fair play towards the railroads, so that they may obtain normal earnings, and then come their own normal expansion.

The tremendous reserve power of the country is evident in abundant cheap money. The Comptroller of the Currency's last report shows more than $861,000,000 of reserve, of which $318,000,000 is in New York banks. It is believed that the reserve money has been augmented since. Despite the gold imports the total gold circulation of the United States is estimated at nearly $1,500,000,000, while the value of circulating notes is placed at $3,000,000,000. These underlying conditions witness the soundness of the reports of prosperity returning on a more solid basis than ever before.

SUPREME COURT.

Monday, September 7th.
IN APPELLATE JURISDICTION.
BEFORE THE FULL COURT.

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Mr. Slade continued his address in reply to Mr. Pollock's application to set the decision aside in the case in which a Chinese firm sued Messrs. Router, Brookmann and Company for alleged wrongful seizure of property.

Dealing with the question of process, Counsel said that any party who judicially caused a void and irregular process to issue was liable in trespass. The law looked to the cause—or causes, and it did not matter through how many ministerial hands the matter had passed, the person who had originally caused the process to issue was liable in trespass. If any man asked the Court to do an irregular thing, and a thing which was absolutely improper in law, and if the Court acceded to his request by inadvertence, then the person suing was liable; but, if a person, without reasonable and probable cause, went and asked the Court for remedy, and an irregular process was issued judicially, then the applicant for the process was not liable in trespass. If a man accused another of an offence which was a summary offence for which no warrant could issue, and if he in proper form applied for the right remedy and the magistrate by mistake issued a warrant, the man was not liable because he had merely applied for the magistrate to do the right thing, and the magistrate had, by mistake, done the wrong thing.

The Chief Justice—Even if the magistrate acted without jurisdiction?

Mr. Slade—Even if he acts without jurisdiction. But if the party goes to the magistrate and requests him to issue a warrant for the apprehension of so and so, and it subsequently turns out that no warrant can legally issue, then both magistrate and party will be liable.

The Chief Justice—If it is a ministerial act?

Mr. Slade—Yes.

The Paines Judge—You say a man would be liable in trespass then.

Mr. Slade—I think so, my Lord, because the mistake was his.

The Chief Justice—It is a mistake to suppose that a magistrate issues warrants. It is the magistrate's clerk in most cases.

Sir Henry Berkeley—By authority of the magistrate.

The Chief Justice—There are some cases in which a magistrate acts ministerially.

Mr. Slade—The act of a magistrate would be judicial in such cases, so I think I am wrong. A good instance of the kind is this: A man has a right, on fulfilling certain conditions, to issue a warrant of arrest or for the arrest of property under a main process of this Court, and an irregular process is issued, a process which is irregular as to be set aside for irregularity under the rules. Then the applicant is liable.

Sir Henry Berkeley—Only after it is set aside.

Mr. Slade—After it is set aside, when it is set aside, and if it is void of an issue.

Sir Henry Berkeley contended that on consideration of paragraph 7 of the statement of claim the warrant would be found to be a good warrant; it had not been impeached, there was no evidence whatever to show that there had been personal interference by Router, Brookmann and Company with the Pua Yu magistrate or the person who issued the warrant. All that plaintiffs could prove was that the Pua Yu magistrate, having placed what might be called bailiffs in possession of the shop and goods, Router, Brookmann's agents in Canton, finding that they were to be at once subjected to a boycott, withdrew execution from the shop. Finally, Counsel said he would submit with some insistence that this case should not have gone as far as to make it necessary for him to take the necessary points with regard to libel and the other points he took, because when the case concluded he moved for a nonsuit, inasmuch as plaintiffs had not established that the wrong complained of was actionable by law in the place where they were committed, or in Hongkong.

The Chief Justice—Our decision will be reserved until after the long vacation, but now that this case is over I have one word to say. There are certain paragraphs in the shorthand writer's notes of the summing up, on pages 11 and 12, which I don't think ought to remain there. I therefore order that they be struck out as being irrelevant to the issues, and containing an unwarrantable imputation on the Court.

[This refers to a discussion which took place in Court nearly two months ago, between the Hon. Mr. Pollock, K.C., and His Honour the Chief Justice.]

UNITED ASBESTOS ORIENTAL AGENCY, LD.

The twelfth annual general meeting of the United Asbestos Oriental Agency Ltd. was held yesterday at 3 p.m. in the offices of Messrs. Dodwell & Co. Ltd., Queen's Buildings.

Mr. Edgar G. Barrett (presided), other shareholders present being Messrs. A. Denison, J. D. Auld, A. Ritchie, T. Skinner and A. S. Grassick (Secretary).

The SECRETARY having read the notice convening the meeting, the CHAIRMAN said:—Gentlemen—You have had ample opportunity to examine the report and accounts. I, therefore, propose to follow the usual course and consider them read. Notwithstanding the severe depression that has continued for so long throughout the Far East, we are able to pay the same dividend as last year which, I think, must be considered very satisfactory. Our actual profit on the year's trading is little more than last year and constitutes a record since the incorporation of the Company. It was found necessary, however, to write off slightly more this year for depreciation and bad debts, consequently the amount available for distribution is not quite so much as last year, though only falling short by about Mex. $100. You will see from the accounts, it is proposed to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. on the ordinary shares, and $18.80 on each founder's share, and place $10,000 to reserve fund, bringing that fund up to $45,000, and I trust this proposed distribution will meet with the approval of the shareholders. In a business of this description it is of vital importance to pay the utmost regard to the stock, and to see that no old material is allowed to accumulate. This matter has the constant attention of the Company's superintendents, and I can assure you that the stock has been most carefully checked and valued in Shanghai, Singapore, and here, and due allowance made for any articles that are not in perfect condition. The Chairman at the last meeting informed you that a Branch of the Company had been opened in Shanghai in April last. We have, therefore, the result of a full year's working from that port which I am glad to say is very encouraging. Our Singapore Branch, which has now been established for three years, has continued to show satisfactory returns. Before moving the resolutions I shall be pleased to answer any questions from shareholders.

No questions being asked, the CHAIRMAN proposed that the report and accounts be received, approved and adopted.

Mr. DENISON—I have much pleasure in seconding the motion, but I am sorry the directors have not been able to carry out the scheme I proposed to try to do away with founder's shares by giving them ordinary shares for them. I am glad to see that business increases in spite of the depression in trade.

The CHAIRMAN—I did not know that you put forward a scheme, Mr. Denison. You asked two years ago if it could be done, and I think the Chairman then said it would have the consideration of the General Managers. It is a very difficult proposition, and we looked into it very carefully, but could not see how we could very well bring it about. If you put forward a scheme we could submit it.

Mr. DENISON—I think there are only a few shares that are not held by Messrs. Dodwell and Co. They might be asked what they considered a fair number of ordinary shares.

The CHAIRMAN—Of course that would mean a re-adjustment of the whole capital.

Mr. DENISON—Yes, of course.

The CHAIRMAN—In fact, a reconstruction of the Company.

The motion was agreed to.

It was proposed by the CHAIRMAN, and seconded by Mr. AULD, that the following dividend be now declared out of the net profits of the undertaking for the twelve months ending 31st May 1908 upon the Company's capital on the said date namely on the founders' shares a dividend of $18.80 per share, on the ordinary shares a dividend of 20 per cent for the year, and that such dividends be paid to the existing members on this date.

The proposition was agreed to.

Mr. W. H. Potts was re-elected Auditor on the proposal of Mr. DENISON, seconded by Mr. SKINNER.

The CHAIRMAN—That is all the business Gentlemen. Dividend Warrants are now ready.

STORAGE OF AMMUNITION AT PEKING.

The Peking Correspondent of the N. C. Daily News says the report of the removal of arms and ammunition of the various Foreign Legations guards to blank places outside the Peking City, in consequence of the recent disaster in the German Legation, is untrue. The Weiyuan has never proposed anything of the kind.

It is probable, however, that the Chinese Government will request the foreign Ministers to take this step, but as the keeping of ammunition stores was stipulated in the 1900 Protocol, it is not easy to arrange the matter.

All parts of China are now tranquil, and likely to continue so; and there is a large number of Chinese troops who could be relied upon to suppress any agitation against foreigners. The troops consist of the 9th and 6th Divisions in Peking, the 4th Division in the vicinity of Tientsin, the 2nd Division distributed between Paoing and some other important points in North China. There are, therefore, about 40,000 foreign drilled troops in China, in addition to the Provincial forces and the foreign modelled Wei-wei-chun force of General Ma Yu-kun at Tientsin. Moreover, the Chinese masses generally are more loyal to the Government than they were in 1900. The removal of the war stores, or even the withdrawal of the foreign garrisons would not endanger the lives and properties of the foreigners in Peking. It would be a disadvantage to the foreigners and natives who cater to the wants of the foreign troops and it would be a loss generally of the large amount of ready money put in circulation by the troops. The Chinese, in clamouring for the removal of the troops, overlook that fact that they would soon realize what they had lost if their wishes were granted.

THE NEW SPONGE-DIVING—A RACE WITHOUT BURNS—ABRUSTON SHINGLES—BETTER COLOURED GLASS—NOVEL MOSQUITO-KILLER—A GAS "JET" COMPRESSOR—A DIVINING ROD FOR FIRES—ELECTRIC WIND-RECORDER—GAS LIGHT FROM TANKS.

The submarine boat has taken industrial form in the new vessel for the sponge fishery of the Kerkens Islands, off the coast of Tunis, the greatest sponge gathering center. A crude attempt at bottom navigation for sponges was made some years ago by Vice-Admiral Raccol of Carthage, and he organized the local society that has followed up the problem, and has had the present vessel built. This boat is simpler and smaller than those designed for naval use. It is 184 feet long, 54 feet in diameter, has a displacement of only 9 tons and a buoyancy of 1300 pounds, and carries two men. The only opening is the turret at the top. Filling three water ballast tanks causes the vessel to sink, and it is raised, and small movements of ascent and descent are controlled, by manipulating the compressed air valve. Two steel cars, with water-tight spherical joints, make it easy for the crew to paddle about. A wheel at the forward end, and a movable arm with water-tight spherical joint is provided for gathering sponges, with a large basket to hold them. Electric lamps are fed by a storage battery.

The special X-ray tube worked out for medical use by Dr. A. C. Geyser has been tried in more than 5000 applications of 5 to 3 minutes each, and there has been no case of burning of the skin. The tube is of lead-glass, and a small tint-glass window—just large enough to cover the area under treatment—is the only portion that permits the active radiations to pass.

Great pressure is used in manufacturing the new shingles of asbestos-fiber and Portland cement, and they absorb only 5 per cent of their weight of water. Hydration and gradual crystallization on exposure on roofs make them absolutely impervious.

An improved ornamental glass—more transparent than the old one designed to reflect and transmit light of substantially the same colour—has been developed by Fritz Pahl and August Wagner, of Berlin. The gold or silver panes in mosaic work have been made by pouring melted glass upon a metal film and then causing a thin sheet of glass to adhere to the film by heating, the product being a glass reflecting gold or silver light, but almost opaque, the feeble light transmitted being of a dirty yellow or gray colour. In the new process the metal is made to thoroughly coalesce with the glass. The film is applied to the first layer of glass mechanically or by chemical or electrolytic method, and melted glass is then poured on to form the second layer, giving perfect union and great transparency. The panes have a beautiful golden or silvery lustre by reflected light, while the transmitted rays are more or less coloured and give a pleasing antique effect. Mosaics may be made up with both the new glass and the old, and the new material is adapted not only for windows but for lanterns, lamp-chimneys and other uses.

Cactus, instead of petroleum, is the mosquito exterminator that is being tested by the sanitary authorities of Gaboon, French Africa. The thick, pulpy leaves are cut up and macerated in water, and the sticky paste so formed is spread over stagnant pools, giving the insulating layer that destroys the mosquito larvae by preventing them from coming up to breathe. The paste remains in place for weeks and months, while the petroleum quickly dries up and disappears in the fierce heat of a tropical sun.

A simple new device aims to add further power and efficiency to the incandescent gas-light. The little apparatus is operated by electric current generated by the waste heat of the lamp, and acts by compressing the gas at the burner instead of depending upon the air. It is claimed that thorough test has demonstrated the usefulness of this novel compressor.

A simple compass-finder, costing 11 cents has enabled a western pipe-layer to locate a 12 inch cast-iron pipe buried about 3 feet in stiff adobe soil, and has saved several days of labour in digging. As described by A. E. Wright, the finder was a magnetized knitting needle fastened to a strand of ten silk fibers, a miner's dip-needle having been discarded as not sufficiently sensitive. The fibers were glued around the balance-point, and the needle was so balanced as to dip normally about 20 degrees in order that the two ends might be attracted to the pipe unequally. The needle was mounted in a cigar-box, with an index-card, and a glass cover as wind shield. When used, the box was placed horizontally on the ground in a north and south direction, and was moved across the supposed line of the pipe, readings being taken every two feet, and in this way the location was determined very accurately. The deflection was twice as great over a bell as over the mid-length of the pipe.

A novel wind indicator, designed for clubs, hotels and other buildings where people congregate, gives the direction of the wind in any form of day or night from one or more places within the building. A contact-piece revolved with the vane strikes contact at 16 points in the revolution. At each contact a wire forms a circuit with one of the 16 lamps, arranged in the circle of the in-door indicator, and while the circuit from any one of the contacts is complete the lamp of the corresponding point of the compass is lighted. An electric battery of two volts is sufficient.

Blengas, the liquid illuminating gas of Prof. Blas, seems to be gaining favour in Germany, where it is made. Burned four hours a day, a 22 pound cylinder supplies a 50 candle-power gas-burner four months. Flexible copper tubes, only about as large as an electric light wire, connect the burners with the reservoir.

CHINESE BANK MONEY.

The following interesting article is published by the "Journal" of the American Association of China.

The remark was once made by Professor Jevons that a kind of vertigo attacks all who treat the fatal theme of money. The inability to such an attack is greatly enhanced by one who ventures to write of Chinese money, because there is an evident national characteristic which prefers intricacy in money matters to plainness. This characteristic accounts, in a large measure, for the different kinds of coins which are in use in various parts of China, as shown by the recent papers of Dr. Ferguson and Mr. Morse on this subject. In addition to the various coins, there has sprung up in the various provinces a variety of silver dollars which are all nominally of the same value as a Mexican dollar. In addition to dollars, provincial mints have issued twenty and ten-cent silver pieces and also ten-cent copper coins. The proportions of silver and alloy used in these twenty and ten-cent silver pieces and the proportions of copper used in the ten-cent pieces have not been uniform in the various provinces. Forced circulation of these subsidiary coins has also been attempted in several provinces, the reason of which has always been the accumulation of the profit minting rather than the supply of a commercial demand for an increase of a circulating medium. In treating of Chinese bank money, consideration of the variety of coins may be eliminated, for the reason that the bank money which has been issued up to the present was based solely upon the value of provincial dollar, i.e., Mexican dollars.

The reasons for the issuance of bank money in recent years have been several: (1) lack of silver bullion due to the adverse relation between the exports and imports of China, as well as to the heavy payments for national obligations; (2) greater facility of exchange in payment for interchanges of commodities has been demanded by traders, as easy intercommunication between various parts of the country through the development of steam navigation and railways has been established; (3) provincial governments have coveted the opportunity of adding to their revenues by the profits of minting; (4) excessive issues of subsidiary coins have caused depreciation in value and, as Gresham's Law pointed out, bad money invariably drives out good money. This law is especially applicable when the bad money has been printed greatly in excess of the demand for it.

The foregoing reasons apply generally to all of the provinces of China but there were additional reasons, in various provinces, for the issuance of bank money. In Kwangtung Province, bank notes with a face value of one dollar were intended to be exchanged for five twenty-cent pieces, so that the proportionate value between subsidiary silver coins and provincial dollars might be placed upon the same basis as obtained in the British Colony of Hongkong. In Hupei Province, one dollar notes were issued directly by the provincial mint in order to assist in maintaining a high relative value for the copper coins which have been issued in such large numbers that the market has been glutted. In Kiangsi Province the motive seems to have been to facilitate the new method of provincial taxation. In Chekiang and Kiangsu Provinces one of the leading motives has been to compete with the issue of bank notes by foreign banks and to secure for Chinese traders the profits arising from this issuance. There has been no uniformity in the style of printing, nor in the conditions stamped upon the back of the notes, nor in the method of signature, nor in the specified places of redemption. In the case of the Yunnan notes, the first issue is very different from the second issue as to size, colour, quality of paper and signature. The Hupei note is almost entirely in Chinese, having only "seven mace and two candarens, Hupei Government Mint" stamped in English on the back. The new Tachung note has English on one face, and on the other a combination of Chinese and Manchu characters. The Chekiang Province notes have English stamped on one face, and Chinese characters, and the only signature is the name of the Manager and the Accountant of the Shing Nih Bank. The only uniformity of these various bank notes is the common use of the words "unfading," which means "general circulation," and show that the provincial government will nominally accept these notes in payment of taxation, Customs dues, and other government fees. In actual practice this nominal acceptance has been curtailed, as for example in Kwangtung Province, where the value of the one dollar note has been taken to be the value of five twenty-cent pieces, and not of one provincial dollar, so that the one dollar note has had its discount of six or seven per cent. As far as we have been able to ascertain, this is the only instance in the provinces where bank notes have been held at a discount; but in all of the provinces, with the possible exception of Hupei, these notes have not been in "general circulation," but have only been in use in places where there was a branch of the issuing bank. Where no such branches existed these notes have not been used because of the difficulty of redeeming them, in coin.

In order that these bank notes should be considered to be good money they must comply with the same general conditions as have been found necessary in all other countries: (1) they must be readily convertible into coin on demand, and a reasonable amount of redemption must be actually taking place from time to time; (2) there must be a general opinion in commercial circles that any one has a right at any time, for any reason, or for no reason, to require coin for any or all of his possessions; (3) there must be provision for rigorous penalties to be enforced against any bank which fails or delays to make good its promise of redemption; and (4) there must be a general agreement among the users of these notes that the Government is making adequate provision to protect against counterfeiting.

We have not placed among the foregoing requirements any stipulations as to the proportion of reserve to the amount of issue of notes, for the reason that the custom of varied reserve required by various countries is one that, up to the time of the Civil War, the proportion held by banks in the United States was as low as five or even three per cent, but such money was really inconvertible, and could not be considered in the same class as the bank-notes of which we are writing. The whole banking system of China is so bound up, on the one hand with the revenues of the Government, and on the other hand with the transactions of merchants, that we consider it safe to say that the bank-notes of Chinese banks, if properly guaranteed by the Government, could be issued on the lowest basis of a minimum reserve. We have thence upon statistics of trade and bullion in Shanghai, which show that at no time during their fifteen years' history have there been any large fluctuations of banking paper by bullion, and that resultant commercial confidence in banking methods has been unshaken. We feel sure that the minimum reserve of one-third could be adopted by banks issuing notes, provided this reserve is actually guaranteed by the provincial government of the province in which the notes are issued.

To summarize, certain important provisions are necessary if these notes are to maintain the position in the commercial world of China which banknotes have taken in our own western countries. It is essential that there should be no quibbling nor hesitation about the immediate redemption in coin of these notes. The value of the note, as stated on the face of it, must absolutely be given. The note which states that it is of the value of one silver provincial dollar, and not by the amount of twenty or ten-cent silver pieces or ten-cent copper coins. The element of exchange must be excluded, and regard paid only to the face value of the note presented. Immediate and adequate penalties must be visited upon any government officer or bank official who introduces the element of exchange, or attempts to use these bank-notes for speculation between the various classes of coins. The reserve must be deposited in the treasury of the provincial government in such manner that under no circumstances can it be used for other purposes while the bank-notes against which it is held are in circulation. Further, there must be such constant vigilance against the possibility of counterfeiting the bank-notes that the public will have no hesitation in accepting them, and will not be in dread of loss through the acceptance of bad money. We are of the opinion that this question of counterfeit money is probably the most urgent in importance of any of the foregoing provisions which we have mentioned, and that if the Government will safeguard the issuance of these bank-notes in such a way that counterfeiting is almost impossible, there will be slight objection to the general circulation of these notes when protected by proper cash reserves. We would suggest that one of the best means of providing against such counterfeits would be immediate provision that all of the bank notes issued in all provinces should be uniform in size, quality of paper and design.

THE ONLY SURVIVOR.

A service paper remarks that Colonel John Worthy Chaplin, C.B., who has just reached his sixtieth birthday is the only survivor of eight officers and men, one a burlesque, who gained the Victoria Cross in China, in the war of the early sixties. In addition to his V.C., he was awarded the D.S.O. when he was severely wounded after promotion with the 100th Prince of Wales Royal Canadian. Following a term as aide-de-camp to the Irish Viceroy, he became commandant of the Royal Irish Hussars, which he led through the Khyber Pass during the last Afghan war. For these campaigns he obtained mention in despatches, medals, clasps, and the C.B.

THE CHRONICLE AND DIRECTORY

FOR

CHINA, JAPAN, COREA, INDO-CHINA

SIAM, STRAITS SETTLEMENTS,

MALAY STATES, NETHERLANDS

INDIA, PHILIPPINES,

BORNEO, &c.

WITH WHICH ARE INCORPORATED

THE CHINA DIRECTORY

AND

THE HONGKONG DIRECTORY

AND HONG LIST FOR THE FAR EAST

THE FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL ISSUE

The DIRECTORY covers the whole of the ports and cities of the Far East, from Netherlands to Siberia, in which Europeans reside.

Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony,

Port, or Settlement is prefaced by a DESCRIPTION, carefully revised each year, most of which will serve as accurate GUIDES FOR THE TOURIST, giving every detail in connection with the places, their History, Topography, &c., &c.

The Information in these Descriptions, consisting of a hundred interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the Trade of each Country and Port, would alone suffice to fill a large volume.
